Ennio announces appointment of new General Manager

Ennio International, renowned for providing quality netting and casing solutions to the meat, poultry and smallgoods industry is pleased to announce the appointment of Malcolm Hughes as General Manager. International growth and strong home market sales being the precursor to the opening of this new position.

Malcolm has an extensive financial background and considerable international experience in business management across a diverse range of industries, including food manufacturing.

Malcolm holds a Bachelor of Economics and is a Certified Practising Accountant. His most recent role was as Director Controlling of a large automotive supply industry and was based in Japan.

Speaking of the appointment Ennio Mercuri, Managing Director says “Malcolm is a welcome addition to the Ennio team, his solid experience and proven track record in managing complex businesses and strategic development will be an asset as we continue to grow, develop and evolve, a trademark of Ennio International.”

With last year’s addition of the Viskase range of casing products, Ennio has an even wider range of netting and casing products for every application, supported by a dedicated team of specialists and a new and improved website www.ennio.com.au.
